ABSTRACT

This draft goes over the history of the Geographic Division from the reorganization of ORE in 1950 to 1952. The functional and organizational changes that took place during this period are described. The methods for obtaining information needed, the liaison with other departments, and the proposed transfers of the Graphics Branch and the Board of Geographic Names* are covered as well. Also included is a report on the Map Branch which preceded the Geographic Division. Its functions, organization and problems are discussed from 1941 to 1948.
